Who are Purple Jay Nurseries?

Purple Jay Nurseries are a growing chain of five family run nurseries. Established in 2011 with one location in Peckham Rye and later growing to two additional sites in Lambeth, and East Dulwich, and most recently Herne Hill, and of course, Lewisham.

What Is Our Vision and Mission?

Our goal is to create future innovators that think differently and are set up to make their mark on and change the world without sacrificing their mental and physical wellbeing or that of the planet.

We seek to achieve this through bespoke education with an emphasis on creativity, emotional intelligence, and the desire to keep the great outdoors, great!

We strive to create compassionate children who realise they can create, contribute, and change the world.

We provide a safe space with high emotional intelligence for children to explore, discover and create.

Families and communities are important to child development, so we provide support to all.

“Purple Jay Nurseries use our vision and mission to guide everything we do for our children, parents and people.

Approach To Children, Parents & Staff

Below is a summary of our approach, click the titles or buttons to find out more!

Our Approach To Our Children

Our approach involves providing the best quality environment possible for children to explore, discover and create – allowing them to follow their own curiosity, intuition and interests with support from our trained staff. We place a special emphasis on developing emotional intelligence, innovation and creativity within a natural environment in a manner that fits within the EYFS framework to ensure all key milestones are met.

Our Approach To Our Parents

We strive to provide parents with all the information and support they need to feel comfortable and satisfied. We provide granular updates of your child's day, giving you full visibility, monthly observations of your child so you can see how they are doing alongside milestones, regular parents events (education and social), a parents community group, and regular parent surveys so you can communicate your likes/dislikes so we know what to do more/less of, for your satisfaction.

Our Approach To Our Staff

We hire carefully and invest heavily in our people. There are regular training and development opportunities, monthly awards with prizes, away days, and company lunches. Further, our people receive a generous benefits package which includes comprehensive healthcare coverage and a day off for their birthday, plus much more.

We routinely carry out staff surveys to find out what we are doing well and can do better for our people, and ask our parents about our staff too. We use this data to continually improve our staff approach, which benefits them, you and your children.
